

Best of the Web Your top choices from our social media channels for Jan. 2022

Equine Guelph has announced the recipients of its 2021 tuition awards. Katelynn Rourke is the recipient of the Roger L'Heureux Memorial Equine Award and Vanessa MacDonald has received the Stuart Stocks Memorial Equine Award. <https://thehorseportal.ca/2022/01/2021-racing-industry-scholarship-winners-announced/>

It's #InternationalHoofCareWeek Jan 18 - 21, 2022! No hoof, no #horse is a true statement. #EquineGuelph fact sheet with tips on routine care. https://www.equineguelph.ca/pdf/infosheets/No_Hoof_No_Horse.pdf

Welcome #EquineGuelph students to your winter semester of online learning! The journey begins today - Jan 10 but still time to sign up if you have not done so already! uoguelph.ca/equinestudies

Start the new year off with the Ontario Equine Education and Employment Program. New sessions of this FREE 8-week virtual training course start this month. Register today: https://www.vpi-inc.com/equine/?utm_source=ALL&utm_medium=FB&utm_campaign=OEEEE

#BellLetsTalk - One of the kindest things you can do, is be gentle and patient with yourself. Drawing: Charlie Mackesy

Register for the Racehorse Respiratory Health online course, Jan 24-Feb 4. Reduce the risk of respiratory issues in your barn and improve your horses' performance on the track. FREE for AGCO licensees - value $95. Discounts available. Sign up at TheHorsePortal.ca

#EquineGuelph Emergency Preparedness certificate can be earned by completing two short online courses: Equine First Aid (Feb 7-14) and Fire and Emergency Preparedness (Feb 28 - Mar 7). Sign up at TheHorsePortal.ca

Follow Us:

